RAILROAD BRIDGE TO BE MOVED TOMORROW.

Greatest Feat of the Sort Ever Attempted.

WILL TAKE ONLY TEN MINUTES.

How It Will be Done—Shortly After 12 Noon Tomorrow Eight Engines Will Haul the 900 foot Bridge to New Position.

The greatest engineering feat that has ever been accomplished by any railroad in the world, as far as the moving of a bridge is concerned, will be consummated in this city tomorrow noon when the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge over the Raritan will be moved about fifteen feet upon the six stone piers upon which it now rests.

The work of moving this bridge, which has been planned and arranged for months past, will be started at 12.10 o'clock tomorrow noon, the order to that effect having been sent out Thursday. The work will be commenced as soon as the yard line for New York leaves the George street station at 12.08 o'clock. This will be the last train to cross over the bridge as it rests at present.

This bridge is the longest railroad bridge that has ever been moved in the United States and in fact the world, as far as is known. The feat of moving the Schuylkill river bridge was somewhat more difficult than this, but that bridge was only 200 feet long. There are five spans with a draw in the local bridge to be moved and each of these spans with the draw measure 150 feet, so that the entire length of the bridge is 900 feet.

It is expected that the moving of the bridge, which is already on rollers, will take about ten minutes, providing no hitch occurs. There are some six connections of track to be made at either end in order to switch about the present tracks now used on either side of the bridge so that they connect properly with the bridge in its new position. This will take about ten minutes, so that by the time the bridge is moved everything will be ready to simply connect the rails at either end and traffic can be resumed.

The people will be greatly interested in the moving of the bridge. This has been arranged for some time and during this week all of the paraphernalia has been placed in position. The work of moving the bridge will be very easily accomplished, the chief trouble attached to it being the working of the draw after the bridge is moved. The canal will be closed for a week from Sunday in order that the draw can be fitted to its new position and made to swing properly.

The plans for the moving of the bridge were made by the master mechanic of the railroad, George W. Mershon, assisted by his son, William R. Mershon, the assistant master mechanic. There are at present eight engines located alongside the bridge on the draw abutment and on floats on the river. To these engines are attached heavy ropes running to the top of the stone piers, where there is a block and fall arrangement which will be worked by the engines. On each of the abutments there will be five men looking after the engine and ropes and when the signal is given the eight engines will start and the ropes will gradually haul the heavy trestlework on the iron rollers across the piers.

At each end of the stone piers planking has been fastened so that the bridge can come so far and no further. While the bridge is being moved Section Boss George W. Mettler, on the city side of the bridge, will have his men at work connecting the tracks at Bayard street, so that the old east-bound track will run into the new one never before used, and the old west-bound track will be connected with the present eastbound track. Gangs of men over the river will see that the connections are made there and in this way the work will be rapidly carried out.

Mr. Mershon will have some sixty carpenters here from all over this division to aid in the work and there will be a number of Pennsylvania Railroad officials who are expected here on a special train to look at the bridge-moving. It is thought that by 12.30 o'clock everything will be in running order again and trains will cross the river as if nothing had happened. Every detail of the work has been looked after in the extensive preparations made. The fence at the George street station has to be moved and this detail was arranged for last week. Hollow boxes were built and set up in the ground between the two tracks. These boxes are at present underneath the platform of the eastbound side of the station. As soon as the bridge is moved the platform will be torn up and the fence picked up from its present location, posts and all, and carried over to the new line, where the posts will be dropped into these boxes and the fence will stand erect. George D. Hendricks has been the boss carpenter looking after this work.

Supervisor Parker said today that the plans had all been arranged and that there would not be any change as far as he knew. Everything was in readiness for the moving of the bridge. It is safe to say that the churches tomorrow will be slimly attended and that the biggest congregation will be found along the water front. The tow-path will be lined with people without doubt, as will the water front on either side, while there will be a big crowd on the Albany street bridge and in the factory windows. All the rowboats in this vicinity have already been engaged in order that a good view of the moving of the bridge can be secured.

People are expected from Trenton and Princeton, while several of the towns between here and New York will doubtless be represented in the crowd.

New Bakery and Restaurant. Joseph Behr, a well known caterer and restaurant man from New York, has leased the Vliet property at the corner of George and Albany streets, and will open a high grade bakery and restaurant there. He will make a specialty of dainty luncheons for ladies, and will conduct a soda water and ice cream business. The place is now being fitted up for him.

JEALOUS NEGRO'S! MURDEROUS GUN.

Charles White Shoots James Liggins and Carrie Kelly.

BOTH VICTIMS BADLY HURT.

All the Principals Negroes From the Trolley Camp in North Brunswick Township.

The saloon of Edward Schenck, colored, at the corner of Seaman street and Remsen Avenue, was the scene of a sensational shooting affray last night. All the persons involved being negroes from the construction camp of the Trenton-New Brunswick Traction Company in North Brunswick township.

Charles White did the shooting and his victims were James Liggins and a girl named Carrie Kelly. Jealousy was the cause of the onslaught, bad feeling having existed between the men over the woman for several days. Yesterday they were paid some money by the contractors and at night a wagon load of the men with the woman came to town.

Some of them went to the Wild West Show, while White, Liggins and the woman went to the saloon. White drank heavily and at half past nine o'clock was in a mood to carry out a threat he had made earlier in the day to shoot a man. While the people in the place were enjoying the music of an old piano, White suddenly whipped out of his pocket a new 32 calibre revolver and fired at Liggins who stood with the woman at the other end of the bar. Of the shots he fired two struck Liggins in the body and one hit the Kelly woman in the back.

The shooting was heard on the street and some one notified Chief Banks of the fire department and he telephoned for the police. Sergeant Kelly responded at once, taking with him Officers Dunn, O'Connell and Van Deusen.

When they arrived they found the saloon in great confusion and all but the proprietor and injured woman had fled. She lay in a pool of blood on the floor. Just as the police were about to search for the other men they heard a farm wagon drive up the street. It was filled with negroes and was stopped. In the bottom of it lay Liggins, who had been shot.

The ambulance had also been sent for and on its arrival at this time both the man and woman were placed in it and taken to Wells Hospital. The men in the wagon were placed under arrest as witnesses. They were Henry Suggs, John Slaughter, William Shaefer, William Angtry and Frank Skillman. All were committed to jail by order of Chief of Police Harding.

Drs. Williamson and Smith attended the man and woman at the hospital. One bullet struck the man in the side of the head. Neither it or that in the woman could be found last night by the physicians and they were to use the X-rays on the patients this morning. While the injuries of the people are not necessarily fatal, it is not known what the result may be.

It is believed that White in making his escape fled to the camp and later boarded a train out of town. He leaves a wife behind him. Detective Ferguson spent the night looking for him. White had not been caught at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE HOLY CITY.

Those Who Will Take Part in the Cantata.

Preparations for the production of Alfred R. Gaul's cantata, "The Holy City," in the Livingston Avenue Baptist Church are well advanced. This notable composition will be rendered on the evening of Wednesday, June 4, under the auspices of the Men's League of the church, and will be a memorable event in the history of things musical in New Brunswick.

The soloists for the cantata have been engaged and include men and women who have attained positions of prominence in the choirs of several of the leading churches of New York city. Mrs. Lucy Boice-Wood, of Newark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Boice, formerly of this city, and the soprano soloist of one of the large Methodist churches of Brooklyn, will sing the soprano solo parts, and Mrs. Magdalene Perry-MacBride, of Brooklyn, will be the alto soloist. Fred A. Parker, tenor of New York, and Rusing Wood, of Newark, husband of Mrs. Boice-Wood, will render the bass solos. All of these singers come with the highest recommendations for their musical abilities.

Prof. George Nuttman will be the organist, and orchestral effects will be provided by Fred Hart's orchestra. The entire production will be under the direction of Arthur G. Drake, of Dunellen, a capable and experienced musician, who has been coaching the chorus for more than a month and which now shows the effects of its careful training.

The idea of producing the cantata at this time originated with William C. Smock, a member of the Men's League, and he has worked most diligently in making preparations for the affair. The persons who have volunteered their services for the chorus embrace many of the most prominent

BEAT WIFE ON WAGER.

Perth Amboy Man Had Novel Money Making Scheme, But Lost. Mrs. Mary Bolinda, of Perth Amboy, has made a peculiar charge against her husband before Justice Marcus Striker. About two weeks ago her husband made a wager with another North Amboy man, she claims, that he would beat his wife at least once a day for a month without her making a complaint.

If the wife refused to take the beatings and appealed to the law or the neighbors for assistance Bolinda lost his queer wager, or if he missed one day without giving his wife the prescribed punishment the money went to the other man. These were the conditions of the wager, the wife claims, and even though her husband does lose the money she refuses to tolerate his brutality any longer.

A few evenings ago several neighbors interferred, when it was thought that Bolinda was carrying the thing too far and the next day the husband made up for lost time. Then it was that the woman decided to register complaint. In telling her story Mrs. Bolinda said that her husband should have told her of the wager. Then she would let him beat her, not too hard, of course, but just enough to keep him from losing the money. He had gone about it in that way she would have helped him to win, but he simply beat her without giving her the satisfaction of knowing that she was helping him to win.

MILLTOWN REJOICES.

Work to be Started in the Old Meyer Rubber Company Next Week.

Milltown heard good news today, so good that the residents celebrated at noon by blowing the gong at the old Meyer Rubber Company's plant, and expressing their gladness in other ways. The deal for the re-opening of this plant was put through yesterday and next week the old rubber plant that has been idle for the past six years will start running again.

The International Wheel and Tire Company has secured control of the plant and will move their plant from Newton Upper Falls, near Boston, to the Milltown plant. Manager H. C. Williams notified Conrad W. Kuhlman today that the deal had been closed and the company will move there next week.

The company now employs 150 hands and will increase the number of operatives upon locating here, where the quarters are larger. This was what forced them to look elsewhere than their present location. The people of Milltown agreed to reduce the assessment on the plant and the demands of the company were fully met by the residents of the borough.

PROF. BARBOUR RE-ENGAGED.

He Will Present "Rip Van Winkle" in Masonic Temple on Wednesday.

The last entertainment of the season under the auspices of the Masonic Temple Association will be given in the Temple on next Wednesday night. The committee in charge has by request of the many persons who have enjoyed these entertainments, re-engaged Prof. E. Livingston Barbour for this event.

He will appear in his new and pleasing creation of "Rip Van Winkle," which has given extreme pleasure wherever presented. Prof. Barbour appeared in "David Garrick" at the second entertainment of the course and it was so greatly enjoyed that the patrons have generally asked that he be secured for the last entertainment. There will be dancing and refreshments, as usual, at the close of the programme.
